

Craig M. Simon

President and CEO, FedEx Supply Chain Systems

Craig Simon is president and CEO of FedEx Supply Chain, a third-party logistics (3PL) provider that serves as a vital piece of the overall FedEx enterprise operation. The company offers fulfillment services and service parts logistics for high-tech and medical device companies; a cold chain less-than-truckload (LTL) network dedicated to the pharmaceutical industry; and transportation management services across a wide array of segments.

Simon joined FedEx in 1999 and served as director and vice president for FedEx Solutions. In 2006, he transitioned to FedEx Supply Chain as president and CEO. Under his direction, FedEx Supply Chain has expanded operations from 10 countries in 2010 to more than 26 today.

Prior to FedEx, Simon spent eight years with Andersen Consulting (now Accenture), providing supply chain strategy development and operations improvement efforts for Fortune 500 companies in the consumer products, retail, food, and high-tech industries. He also developed a healthcare information startup company in the Silicon Valley.

Simon serves on the Board of Directors for Knowledge Quest, a Memphis, Tennessee-based after-school education and community development program. He is also an advisory board member at the Reilly Center for Science, Technology, and Values at his alma mater, the University of Notre Dame. Simon holds two degrees from the university: a Bachelor of Science in Mechanical Engineering and a Bachelor of Arts in History.

