

Michael L. Ducker

President and Chief Executive Officer, FedEx Freight

Michael L. Ducker is president and chief executive officer of FedEx Freight.

Ducker, who has been with FedEx for more than 40 years, provides strategic direction for the less-than-truckload (LTL) FedEx companies throughout North America and for FedEx Custom Critical, a leading expedited freight carrier.

He previously served FedEx as the president of international business, COO of FedEx Express, and president of FedEx Express Asia Pacific. In addition, Ducker led the Southeast Asia, Middle East, and Southern Europe regions of FedEx.

Ducker serves on the Executive Committee for the American Trucking Associations and as a member of the American Transportation Research Institute (ATRI) Board of Directors. He previously served as chairman of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and currently is chairman of the chamber's Executive Committee. He is a member of the Salvation Army National Advisory Board and Executive Committee. He also serves as a board member of Amway Corp. and International Flavors & Fragrances.

Born in Chattanooga, Tennessee, he received his MBA from a joint program of the Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University and the Hong Kong University of Science and Technology.
